Where Did the Money Go?

A Focused and Efficient Process to Get the Answers

In some disputes, you need to know “where did the money go?” We are all familiar with the discovery process, and how complicated it can be.

I can make it more focused and efficient for you. I know how to:

- Ask for the right documents and ask the right questions;
- Understand what the documents and answers are telling you, so you ask the right follow-up questions and ask for the right documents; and
- Understand all of this information, and pull it together into a coherent, well-documented report.

I can help you with every step of the process.
